

still make time for the little joys of life. In the U.S. by contrast people's lives seem to fall apart when they get a bad haircut, or spill their Jamba Juice in their car. Perhaps Ruth is right, we are out of tune with the rest of the world and rely on too many insignificant things to survive.

HER POLITICAL CONSCIOUS

With such a great attitude, clearly she couldn't vote Republican. In fact her politics are as down-to-earth as her attitude. When it comes to voting, she couldn't be any further left. She is as green as a tropical forest. Here, in the States, she supports Nader. On the other side, she supports Vicente Fox. She believes Fox will bring a modern, much-needed, progressive jolt to Mexico. And when it come to Mexico's PRI party she states, "It is just like the old saying, 'power corrupts, absolute power corrupts absolutely.'" She believes that the PRI had too much power and Fox will bring a fresh vision. (Isn't it refreshing to see a beautiful woman who doesn't spend all her time talking about surgery or dieting?)

INTO THE FUTURE

Ruth lives by a great motto? "If anyone else has done it, then I can do it too." From here she hopes to move into the world of filmmaking. Right now she has a couple of offers on the table and has commissioned a script. In the meantime she is happy to continue working on Resurrection Blvd. To OYE readers, she says, "watch Resurrection, keep us employed. To Ruth, we at OYE would like to say: You are a class act...and more! OYE
